Access to this collection may be permitted for the purposes of personal and scholarly research. The Montgomery County Archives requires that the following credit line be used in all publications to identify that the image or document used is from its holdings: Courtesy of the Montgomery County Archives. SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

In 2003, Brenda Radford donated this collection to the Montgomery County Archives. This collection includes notes, registration forms, photograph lists, publications, negatives, and photograph proofs from the Millennium Commission Historic Photograph Committee.

The Millennium Commission was formed around the year 2000 in an effort to document the history of Montgomery County as part of celebrations for the new millennium. The commission consisted of several different committees, including the Millennium Commission Historic Picture Committee. The committee was tasked with collecting historic photographs of Montgomery County to hang in the renovated Montgomery County Courthouse and the newly built Montgomery County Courts Center at Millennium Plaza. Brenda Radford served as the chair of the committee and oversaw the collection of historic photographs. Other committee members included Eleanor Williams, Margaret Fleming, and Ned Crouch

Over the period of several days the public was invited to bring in historic photographs for scanning. Other organizations including the Leaf-Chronicle, Austin Peay State University, the Customs House Museum, Clarksville-Montgomery County Library, Montgomery County Archives, and the Don F. Pratt Museum from Fort Campbell, Kentucky also contributed photographs to the collection. Goodlettsville photographer Douglas Richardson was hired to scan the photographs, make negatives and photograph proof pages, and make enlarged prints for display.

The committee scanned nearly 500 photographs and chose a total of 151 for display in the Montgomery County Courts Complex. They also produced a brochure titled Remembering the Past to accompany the display that included historical notes on each photograph. In 2003 some of the images appeared again in a new booklet titled Montgomery County Courts in Session: Official Dedication, January 22, 2003.

During processing materials inside two three ring binders were removed and placed in acid free folders. Other materials were re-folded with the original subject headings retained. Materials were kept in the original order that that were found. Some duplicate photograph lists were weeded from the collection. All photograph proofs and negatives were removed for scanning and storage with the Archives Photograph Collection.
